

At Home in the Wilderness

These islands....home of the Ojibwe, the voyageurs, and for the length of your visit, you.

Go back far enough in your family tree and you'll find ancestors who were very much at home in the wilderness. The National Wilderness Preservation System, including Apostle Islands National Lakeshore's Gaylord Nelson Wilderness, helps ensure that you and your descendants have access to such places...forever!

So come on in...you are welcome!
